Greetings,

Congratulations on your decision to begin your estate planning. You will feel a huge burden lifted when you finally sign your documents knowing that you have done the right thing to protect you, your family and your assets. This Questionnaire will prompt you for the information necessary to get started.

Please complete as much as you can. If you are not sure about something, make some notes. We will go over this information in great detail so that we are both clear about your information and your wishes.

Instructions: This is a pdf fill-in form. FIRST, download and save this to your computer and then open it from there. This will allow you to save your entries, otherwise, they will not be saved when you close the file. Each time you want to save your entries, you may be asked "Do you want to replace the existing documents", select "Yes."

Some things to remember as you fill in the blanks:

1. Always use full legal names.
2. Fill in as much contact information as possible.
3. A lot of the information, particularly contact information, may be redundant, so you only need to enter it one time. For example, if any of your children are still living at home, you don't have to enter their address, etc. because you have already entered it on page 1.
4. When you come to the Assets and Liabilities section, understand that information is (1) essential to evaluating your unique situation. (2) It also becomes a check list for implementing/funding your trust. (3) It is necessary to evaluate your potential estate tax, if any. (4) It is used to design your Estate and Asset Protection System™ if appropriate.
5. DO YOUR BEST. Complete as much as you can. When we go over it together you will have an opportunity to ask questions, and I will have many questions for you.

Thank you! for allowing us to assist you in this important work.

Gratefully,

Larry Mulcock

REVOCABLE LIVING TRUST

HELP: For estate planning purposes, you, as the Settlor, are “settling” or setting up a “revocable living trust”. The Trust is a contract (not an entity) in which you, the Settlor, appoint you, the Trustee to manage assets that you transferred to the Trust for the benefit of you, the Beneficiary. The Settlor is the owner. The Trustee is the manager. The Beneficiary get to enjoy the Trust assets to the extent described in the Trust contract. So, you are the Settlor, you are the Trustee and are the Beneficiary.

HELP: Trust Name – Generally, the Trust is named after the Settlor, such as “The William Smith Trust”. However, you can name it anything you want.

Trust Name _____

TRUSTEES

HELP: Trustee – The Trustee is the party to the Trust who manages the Trust assets and property as instructed by the Settlor in the Trust contract.

HELP: Successor Trustee – If the Original Trustee dies the Successor Trustee(s) steps into the place of the Trustee and takes over the management and distributions of the Trust assets to the new Beneficiary(ies). If the Original Trustee becomes incapacitated and is still alive but not able to perform the Trustee's duties, the Successor Trustee steps in to manage the Trust until the Original Trustee either regains their capacity or dies. We suggest you have one or two backup Successor Trustees in case one is not available or refuses to do the job.

NOTE: If there are trustworthiness concerns, you can have more than one Successor Trustee at a time to provide a check and balance. It is better to have an odd number so that a disagreement cannot end in deadlock making the services of a probate judge necessary to resolve a conflict.

NOTE: It is good to have some back-ups named in case your first choice can't or is not willing to serve. We recommend two backups, but you may have more if you desire. Back-ups are not required. If there is no one specified in the Trust, the Beneficiaries can elect someone, but, if no one is appointed or they can't agree, a probate judge will need to pick a replacement.

NOTE: Usually the Original Trustee is you, if you are single, or you and your spouse if you are married. There may be some unique circumstance where a third-party trustee is desirable, but it is rare.

DISTRIBUTION SCHEME FOR YOUR ESTATE

INSTRUCTIONS: To ensure that your documents will do what you want, it is important to know your options and be very clear. Read through the following information before you decide. We will discuss this with you before we start your documents until we are satisfied that both you and we are clear. Be sure to (1) always use full legal names and (2) Please provide as much contact information as possible.

HELP: “Trust Estate” means everything owned by your Trust. When you die, your Last Will and Testament will leave everything not in your Trust to your Trust, so the Trust becomes the central point of distribution.

ANSWER THIS QUESTION: “If I (we) died tomorrow, what would I (WE) want to have happen with my stuff?” Remember, these documents are intentionally flexible and can be changed at any time and as frequently as necessary.

HELP: “per stirpes” or “by right of representation” means your estate is to be divided into shares, equal or unequal, one share for each beneficiary. For example, if one of your children predeceases you, that child’s share of your estate would be split between that child’s children/your grandchildren. A deceased beneficiary’s share follows their bloodline, that is, to their children.

HELP: “per capita” means your estate is to be divided equally between the surviving beneficiaries. For example, if a one of your children dies before you, that child’s share would be split among their siblings, your surviving children, and nothing would go to their children, your grandchildren.

THINGS TO CONSIDER:

1. Division of the estate
 - a. Divide my/our assets equally between the children or do you want an UNEqual distribution?
 - b. Do you want to “disinherit” anyone?
 - c. Do you have special situations such as a handicapped child receiving government benefits?
2. What if a child dies before you do?
 - a. If a child predeceases me, divide that child’s share equally among that child’s children. This is called either a “per stirpes” distribution or distribution “by right of representation”.
 - b. If a child predeceases me, divide their share equally among their siblings – “per capita”.
3. When do you want them to get their share?
 - a. As soon as possible after you die?
 - b. When they reach a certain age, for example:
 - i. When each child turns 21
 - ii. After the youngest child turns 21
 - iii. 30% when they turn 21, 30% when they turn 25, the balance when they turn 28
 - iv. Hold the entire estate in trust for the benefit of all minor children. When the youngest child turns 21, divide what’s left equally per stirpes.
 - c. When they accomplish a certain task, such as a college degree, get married or by a house.
4. Do you want to leave anything to charities, such as Utah Youth Village or the University of Utah?
5. Do you want to leave anything to non-family members, such as a friend or a foster child?

ESTATE DISTRIBUTION:

YES __ NO __ Do you have any specific concerns with regard to the final distribution of your estate?

YES __ NO __ Are there any children, grandchildren or any other relative you want to disinherit?

YES __ NO __ Do you wish to make any anatomical bequests / be an organ donor?

YES __ NO __ Do you wish to leave any of your estate to charitable organizations?

LAST WILLS AND TESTAMENTS

INSTRUCTIONS: Be sure to (1) Always use full legal names and (2) provide as much contact information as possible.

HELP: A “pour-over will” means that your Last Will and Testament has a provision that leaves everything not in your Trust to your Trust. In other words, the Trust is the sole heir of your Will, that is to say that your Will “pours” everything “over” into your Trust.

PERSONAL REPRESENTATIVES

HELP: A “personal representative” (formerly known as an “executor”) represents your estate after you die. The Personal Representative takes care of distributing all your stuff you did not transfer to your Trust.

NOTE: Usually, the Personal Representative and Alternate Personal Representative s are the same people as the Successor Trustees. The Personal Representative deals with non-Trust assets and the Trustee deals with Trust assets. It makes it less complicated if only one person must sign and coordinate activities. A committee takes longer to get things done.

NOTE: If there are trustworthiness concerns, you can have more than one Personal Representative and Trustee at a time to provide a check and balance. It is better to have an odd number so that a disagreement cannot end in deadlock making the services of a probate judge necessary to resolve a conflict.

NOTE: It is good to have some back-ups named in case your first choice can’t or is not willing to serve.

We recommend that you name at least one Alternate Personal Representative, two if possible. You can name as many as you would like.

GUARDIAN FOR MINOR CHILDREN

INSTRUCTIONS: Be sure to (1) Always use full legal names and (2) provide as much contact information as possible.

HELP: A “guardian” is someone who has legal custody of another person’s body (as opposed to their property – see “conservator”). It is in your Last Will and Testament where you specify guardians for your minor children. The legal role of the Guardian will end when your child turns 18.

NOTE: Guardians do not need be the same people as your Personal Representative or Successor Trustees.

NOTE: Some things to consider when selecting the Guardians are age, financial resources, number of children, health, geographic location, religious and moral preferences, neighborhood, etc.

NOTE: If you would like a certain couple to be the Guardians of you minor children, ask yourself the following questions: “If the husband died, would I want the wife to serve as Guardian alone?” “If the wife died, would I want the husband to serve as Guardian alone? If the answer is “Yes”, it is best to list your preference of the two first, followed by your second choice. If the answer is “No” for one but not the other, you should just list your “Yes” choice followed by a third person back-up.

NOTE: We recommend that you have at least one or two alternates. You may have as many as you think are necessary.

CONSERVATOR FOR MINOR CHILDREN

INSTRUCTIONS: Often the Conservator is the same person as the Guardian, but not always. If they are to be the same, just write “Same”.

HELP: A “conservator” is someone who has legal stewardship and custody of another person’s property and has a fiduciary obligation to manage the property for the sole benefit of that person. It is in your Last Will and Testament where you specify a Conservator to manage your estate for the benefit of your minor children. The authority of the conservator will end when your child turns 18.

NOTE: A Conservator does not need be the same people as your Guardian, Personal Representative or Successor Trustees. However, it is often the same as the Guardians since they are the ones who will be in intimate daily contact with your children and perhaps most aware of their needs.

NOTE: Some things to consider when selecting a Conservator are their financial experience and judgment, their concern and relationship with your children, their attitude and propensity toward thrift or spendthrift, their relationship with the Guardian, etc.

NOTE: If you would like a certain couple to be the Guardians of you minor children, ask yourself the following questions: “If the husband died, would I want the wife to serve as Guardian alone?” “If the wife died, would I want the husband to serve as Guardian alone? If the answer is “Yes”, it is best to list your preference of the two first, followed by your second choice. If the answer is “No” for one but not the other, you should just list your “Yes” choice followed by a third person back-up.

DURABLE GENERAL POWER OF ATTORNEY

HELP: A “Financial Agent” appointed in your Durable General Power of Attorney is someone you authorize to manage your affairs in the event you become incapacitated. It is active until you either regain your capacity or die. The Financial Agent under your Durable General Power of Attorney, or Alternate Financial Agents, are usually the same people as the Successor Trustees in the same order. In the event of your incapacity, your Agent manages your non-Trust assets, and the Trustee/Successor Trustee(s) manages your Trust assets. It makes it less complicated if only one person must sign and coordinate activities. A committee takes longer to get things done.

HEALTH CARE POWER OF ATTORNEY

INSTRUCTIONS: Be sure to (1) Always use full legal names and (2) provide as much contact information as possible.

HELP: A “Health Care Agent” is a person appointed by you in your Health Care Power of Attorney, more technically known as a “Medical Directive”. You grant to this person your power to make medical and health care decisions for you if you, for whatever reason, cannot make them yourself. Each State legislature has approved its own version that usually incorporates the Living Will.

HELP: A “living will”, more technically known as a “Medical Directive to Physicians and Providers of Health Care” is a document in which you express your desires relative to ongoing medical and health care services in the event you are irrevocably in the process of dying. No person is appointed to act for you under this document. It is State-specific and usually combined with the Health Care Power of Attorney.

NOTE: Your Health Care Agent need not be the same as anyone already named in the previous documents. In fact, it is often not the same person. Some things to consider when selecting your Health Care Agent and Alternates are age, familiarity with medical and health care matters, disposition under stressful circumstances, assertiveness, etc.

NOTE: It is good to have some back-ups named in case your first choice can’t or is not willing to serve.

ASSETS AND LIABILITIES

WHY? Why do we need your financial information? First, it will help us see if there is anything in your unique situation that needs to be treated in these documents that may not have been addressed.

Second, we need to see if you have or might have an estate tax problem. That is why it is important to be thorough and complete. There also may be asset like life insurance that could create a big estate tax problem.

Third, we need this information to create a custom-designed fully integrated Estate and Asset Protection System[®] that addresses your business risks and personal liabilities. There is no additional cost for this service. However, your Trust and other estate documents only address a small part of your total picture. We usually start with them because they are common to almost everyone over 18. From there on, each situation is unique.

INSTRUCTIONS:

1. Be as details as possible, but not too detailed. In other words, enter the name of the bank, type of account and typical balance, but not the account number. The same applies to credit cards.
2. Whenever possible, indicate who or what owns each asset or liability. For example, an account has only one spouse on a rental property owned by an LLC, or who each IRA belongs to. Separate property or community property may indicate that some special drafting may be needed. This is particularly true for multiple marriages and merged families. We will ultimately need to know which assets are intended to be joint and which are separate property.
3. Enter the address or some other description of the real estate, enough so that we can identify what state it is in and the type of use, such as a residential rental, farm property or a cabin in the mountains.
4. We do not need exact balances on accounts and debts, only estimates. The same applies to the fair market value.
5. The detail request for each life insurance policy is necessary to know how to value the policy and if it will have an impact your estate tax profile.
6. Possible inheritance is important because most people do not consider it an asset or part of their net worth. However, it can wreak havoc with a plan if not anticipated. Your best estimate is all we need.
7. Do your best. You may have questions. We will likely have questions for you as well. If you are uncertain about an entry, leave it blank or put a “?” next to it to remind both of us that it needs attention.
